GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

WHAT IS A TERMS OF USE AGREEMENT?

A Terms of Use Agreement is a written set of rules and regulations between two parties, the User and the Company, that the User must agree to follow in order to use the Company's website and services.

WHEN IS A TERMS OF USE AGREEMENT NEEDED?

While Terms and Conditions are not required by law, any website, especially e-commerce or social networking websites or applications and any website or internet service provider that stores a User's personal data, should consider having Terms and Conditions.

A written set of Terms and Conditions protects the Company and acts as an instruction manual for its website. It allows the Company to explain things related to its service or product, including, among other things:

- how purchases, payment, and returns are handled
- ownership and use of content and intellectual property
- how Users must conduct themselves, including any prohibited behavior
- limitations on liability and disclaimers
- the Company's privacy policy

WHO NEEDS A TERMS OF USE AGREEMENT?

Almost every website or application that provides a service or product has a Terms of Use Agreement.

Here are some examples of websites and apps that use a Terms of Use Agreement:

- E-Commerce Company - Ebay, Amazon, Target, Gap
- Social Media Website or Application - Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, Snapchat

- Search Engine - Google, Yahoo, Bing
- Website or Application Providing a Service or Product - YouTube, Apple, Uber
- Gaming Website or Application - Playstation, Pokemon Go, Candy Crush

WHAT SHOULD BE INCLUDED IN A TERMS OF USE?

A simple Terms of Service should generally have at least the following:

- Who is the Company providing the service or product
- What is the service or product provided by the Company
- Where is the Company's website
- When will the agreement terminate
- Why might the User not be granted access to the website
- How does the User agree to accept the Terms of Service

The Company can tailor the rules and regulations, or "terms of use", according to the service or product it provides and its specific needs. The Terms of Use Agreement can be posted on the Company's website either as a browsewrap agreement or a clickwrap agreement.
